

Values Posters

Eight A4 posters, one for each of the values used across the site, each carrying a plain definition and three examples of what that value looks like in a form room. Print the ones you want and put them up; there is nothing else to prepare. Once the words are on the wall the whole form has them, so praise and correction can point at something everybody already recognises.

Print these

Page	What it is
Pages 2 to 5	Courage, Kindness, Honesty and Resilience, one value to an A4 page
Pages 6 to 9	Generosity, Discipline, Leadership and Gratitude, one value to an A4 page

How it works

Step	What happens
1	Pick the values your form actually needs this term. Four on a wall get read; all eight tend to become wallpaper.
2	Print them and put them where students already look: above the board, beside the door, along the back wall.
3	Use the words. When you praise something, name the value it was. When you pull somebody up, point at the poster.
4	Change them round at the start of a new term, so the ones on the wall are the ones you are actually talking about.

Worth knowing

- They scale cleanly, so they print just as well on A3 if your school has a machine that will do it.
- These are the same eight values used by Certificate Templates and by Values in Action, so a form meets the same words in all three.
- If your form needs a different value, make your own poster the same way: the three examples are the part that does the work.

Put up the four your form needs, and use the words when something happens.

A VALUE WE USE HERE

Courage

Doing the right thing when it would be easier not to.

WHAT IT LOOKS LIKE HERE

Saying something when someone is being left out.

Admitting you got it wrong before anybody finds out.

Trying the thing you might not be good at.

A VALUE WE USE HERE

Kindness

Noticing what somebody else needs, and doing something about it.

WHAT IT LOOKS LIKE HERE

Asking how someone is and waiting for the real answer.

Making room at the table.

Saying the good thing out loud instead of just thinking it.

A VALUE WE USE HERE

Honesty

Telling the truth, including when the truth is awkward.

WHAT IT LOOKS LIKE HERE

Owning up before you are asked.

Saying you do not understand.

Handing back what is not yours.

A VALUE WE USE HERE

Resilience

Carrying on after something has gone badly.

WHAT IT LOOKS LIKE HERE

Handing in the next piece of work after a bad mark.

Asking for help instead of giving up.

Coming in the next day after a bad one.

A VALUE WE USE HERE

Generosity

Giving something up so that somebody else has more.

WHAT IT LOOKS LIKE HERE

Sharing your time, not only your things.

Letting somebody else take the credit.

Helping when there is nothing in it for you.

A VALUE WE USE HERE

Discipline

Doing what you said you would on the days you do not feel like it.

WHAT IT LOOKS LIKE HERE

Starting homework the day it is set.

Packing your bag the evening before.

Keeping going when nobody is checking.

A VALUE WE USE HERE

Leadership

Making it easier for the people around you to do well.

WHAT IT LOOKS LIKE HERE

Including the person nobody has asked.

Taking the job nobody wants.

Setting the tone instead of following it.

A VALUE WE USE HERE

Gratitude

Noticing what you have, and telling the people who gave it to you.

WHAT IT LOOKS LIKE HERE

Thanking the person who helped, by name.

Noticing the small things that usually go unsaid.

Thanking the staff who are not your teachers.
